STATEWIDE CURRENT SITUATION: Tropical Depression Harvey is over Tennessee and continues to move northeast today, having no more impacts to Texas. The forecast for the impacted areas and most of the state remains dry today.

A few showers and storms are possible over North-Central Texas on Saturday afternoon/evening and again on Sunday afternoon/evening. By Monday, we are expecting to see increasing moisture near the coast that would lead to showers and a few storms. This activity looks to be a little more widespread near the coast on Tuesday. Also on Tuesday, a front will be moving into northern portions of the state, bringing organized showers and storms with it by early Wednesday morning. This front looks to quickly move through the state, however, and offshore on Thursday which would keep a developing low pressure well offshore and away from the coast. This is the low that has been discussed in previous Tropical Weather Outlooks from the National Hurricane Center.

With this forecast, Texas then remains dry Thursday through Sunday of next week.

Governor Abbott has issued a suspension of specific vehicle titling and registration requirements for the next 45 days in the 58 counties specified in the state's disaster declaration. As a consequence, vehicle titling and registration expirations are suspended in order to relieve that burden upon Texans. Law enforcement will not issue citations for expired registration in all affected counties until October 16, 2017.

Governor Abbott has issued a proclamation to allow the Port Aransas Independent School District Board of Trustees to conduct a telephone meeting within a reasonable distance of the district.

Governor Abbott issued a disaster declaration for the counties of: Angelina, Atascosa, Aransas, Austin, Bastrop, Bee, Bexar, Brazos, Burleson, Caldwell, Cameron, Calhoun, Chambers, Colorado, Comal, Brazoria, DeWitt, Fayette, Fort Bend, Galveston, Goliad, Gonzalez, Grimes, Guadalupe, Hardin, Harris, Jackson, Jasper, Jefferson, Jim Wells, Karnes, Kerr, Kleberg, Lavaca, Lee, Leon, Liberty, Live Oak, Madison, Matagorda, Montgomery, Newton, Nueces, Orange, Refugio, San Patricio, Polk, Sabine, San Jacinto, Tyler, Trinity, Victoria, Walker, Waller, Washington, Wharton, Willacy and Wilson.

Governor Abbott requested and was approved for a Presidential Disaster Declaration for the following counties: Aransas, Bee, Brazoria, Calhoun, Chambers, Colorado, Fayette, Fort Bend, Galveston, Goliad, Hardin, Harris, Jackson, Jasper, Jefferson, Kleberg, Liberty, Matagorda, Montgomery, Newton, Nueces, Orange, Sabine, San Jacinto, San Patricio, Refugio, Victoria, Waller, and Wharton counties for Individual Assistance and assistance with debris removal and emergency protective measures (Categories A and B), including direct federal assistance, under the Public Assistance program.

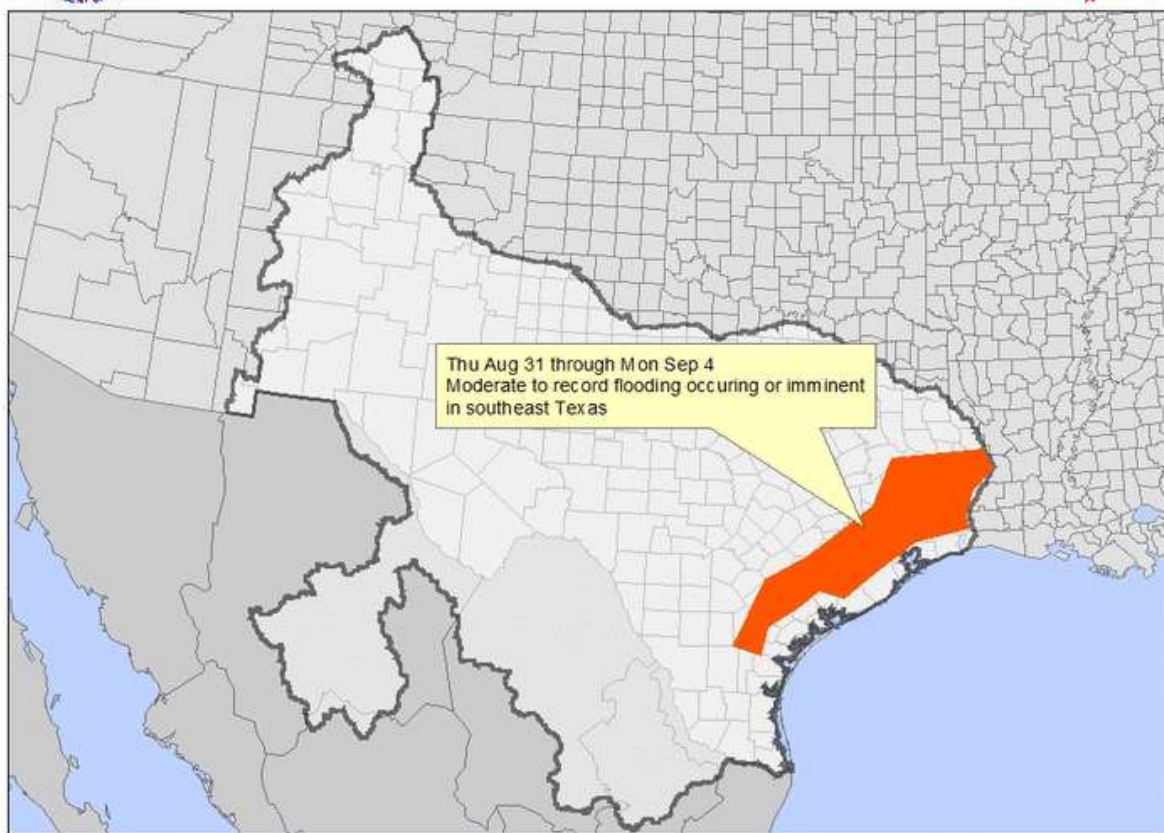

Bexar, Dallas, Tarrant and Travis counties are eligible for emergency protective measures (Category B), including direct federal assistance, under the Public Assistance program.

Significant River Flood Outlook

Valid: 8/31/2017 - 9/5/2017

West Gulf River Forecast Center 8/31/2017 9:41:32 AM

SIGNIFICANT RIVER FLOODING POSSIBLE.

SIGNIFICANT RIVER FLOODING LIKELY.

SIGNIFICANT RIVER
FLOODING OCCURRING OR IS IMMINENT.

Significant River Flooding Impacts include:
Roads adversely affected. Residential, commercial, industrial, and/or agricultural areas affected. May require evacuation of people.

NOTE: Flash Flooding or Minor River Flooding will NOT be included in this outlook.

Trinity Basin – Record Flooding – Lake Livingston releases have been on a steady decrease for several days and local runoff is finally tapering off, so all tributaries have crested and the Trinity River has crested and begun falling from Romayor (RMYT2) upstream. The river continues to rise in record major flood levels at Liberty (LBYT2) and Moss Bluff (MBFT2) as the flood wave moves slowly down the river. Liberty can be expected to finally crest today and Moss Bluff will continue to slowly rise for another day.

Neches Basin – Record Flooding - Rain has ended but the river continues to move flood waters downstream. BA Steinhagen is maintaining releases and sending water down the Neches River towards Beaumont. Unfortunately, so are the major flood on Pine Island and other Bayous and the record flood from Village Creek at Kountze. Therefore expect the Neches to rise well into unfamiliar territory and potentially reach 20 feet plus before being able to start to drain its water into Sabine Lake, which may have backed up well into Beaumont.

Brazos Basin – Record Flooding – No significant precipitation was received in the past 24 hours ending at 12z Thursday. The very lower end of the Brazos river system has received less than 0.5 inch of precipitation in the 24 hours ending at 12z Wednesday. The very lower end of the Brazos river system has received between four to nine inches at RMOT2 and below in the past 24 hours ending at 12z Tuesday morning. A total of four to nine inches fell at WBZT2 and below for the 24 hours ending at 12z on Monday morning. The Brazos river system has received between 7 to 12 inches at WBZT2 and HPTDT2 and below in the 24 hours period ending at 12z on Sunday morning. The lower end of the Brazos received 4 to 10 inches of precipitation in the previous 24 hour period ending at 12z on Saturday. The storm total precipitation in the 27 to 38 inch range for the lower Brazos.

The largest impacts (Major Flood Stage) will be occurring at the lower end of the Brazos at: the Brazos River at San Felipe (BAWT2), the Brazos River at Richmond (RMOT2), Brazos River at Rosharon (ROST2), and Brazos River at West Columbia (WCBT2).

Current forecasts are based on 24 hours of QPF, however the next 24 hours total is 0 inches. Future QPF beyond 24 hours will have no impact on current crest forecasts, as Harvey has moved out of the area. River forecast confidence will increase in the next 24 to 48 hours as upstream crests arrive and Harvey moves out of the area.

For the Brazos at Richmond (RMOT2), the crest upstream at Farm to Market (FM) 1093, which occurred late Wednesday evening or early Thursday morning, and should continue to route downstream and drive the RMOT2 crest higher. A HEC-RAS model run from the FBCDD has increased confidence in a 56 feet crest and confidence in the timing of the crest. Timing from the 2016 event has also been factored into the routing.

For the Brazos at West Columbia (WCBT2), the forecast trend continue to hold as a rising pattern to 32 ft. There is more uncertainty with this forecast, as compared to the RMOT2 forecast, because there is no measured rating curve, short duration of record and inter-basin transfer to Oyster Creek and potentially San Bernard basins.

GOES-16 Veggie band CH03 indicated that inter-basin transfer to Oyster Creek may have been occurring above West Columbia on 8-30, although it is unclear if flow is being lost or gained from Oyster Creek. Also note, the timing from the 2016 crest was used to adjust the timing of the forecast 32 foot crest.

Sabine Basin – Record Flooding – Widespread, intense rainfall associated with Harvey has caused major to near record flooding on the lower Sabine River system from Bon Wier downstream through Deweyville (DWYT2) and Orange (ORNT2) including Bayou Anacoco near Rosepine (RPIL1).

San Jacinto Basin – Major Flooding – All of the basins across the San Jacinto system, including the larger creeks and bayous, have crested. Some basins are still experiencing major flooding. Lake Conroe is reducing releases. Lake Houston, Addicks and Barker Reservoirs are continuing to release, with Buffalo Bayou remaining in flood stage/above criteria until further notice.

San Bernard Basin – Major Flooding – Harvey rainfall caused widespread major to record flooding across the San Bernard basin.

Colorado Basin – Major Flooding – The Colorado River is cresting at Wharton. Slight rises are possible downstream at Bay City and Matagorda. The river will drop below flood stage by the end of the weekend.

Guadalupe Basin – Major Flooding – Heavy rainfall from Harvey significantly affected the lower portions of the Guadalupe River basin and routed water is still making its way through the system. Expect major flooding as a result. Additional rainfall is not expected for the next several days.

All tributaries including Sandies Creek, the San Marcos River, and Plum Creek have crested and are now falling, or have fallen below criteria levels. The Plum Creek gage near Luling (LULT2) is still non-operational after being washed out in the flood.

On the Guadalupe River, Westhoff (WHOT2) is falling and is already below flood level, and Cuero (CUET2) has crested and is now falling within moderate flood levels. However, river levels still remain in major flood downstream at Victoria (VICT2), where it is cresting now and at the du Pont Plant near Bloomington (DUPT2) where it is expected to crest within the next day or so.

Public Utilities Commission (PUC): Over the past few days, as the storm slowly moved through Texas, decreases in outages in AEP Texas' service area were offset by increases in outages in other areas in Texas. However, due to restoration activities across the state today, customer outages are dropping.

American Electric Power (AEP): As of 2:30 AM, AEP reports that 72,622 customers remain without power, down from over 220,000 outages at the peak of the hurricane. The largest concentration of remaining outages are in Nueces, San Patricio, Refugio and Victoria Counties.

AEP reports the following restoration timeline:

- August 31, 2017 – Beeville
- September 1, 2017 – Port Lavaca
- September 2, 2017 – El Campo, Victoria and Portland
- September 4, 2017 – Port Aransas
- September 6, 2017 – Ingleside
- September 8, 2017 – Fulton, Rockport, and Aransas Pass

AEP Texas has a total of 4,600 contractors and company personnel committed to the restoration of power.

CenterPoint: CenterPoint reports that it has restored power to more than 805,000 customers since Friday and more than 28,000 in the last 24 hours. CenterPoint notes that 23,000 customers are still impacted by high water.

CenterPoint continues to respond to outages throughout its service territory where it can safely do so. Due to continued flooding, CenterPoint's crews cannot safely navigate all areas around the city to assess damage to its systems or restore power to customers in hard-hit areas making it difficult to provide a comprehensive restoration timeline.

CenterPoint has 2,000 company personnel and 800 mutual assistance resources assisting in restoration efforts.

Entergy: Entergy has restored power to more than 135,000 customers since the storm began to impact its service area last Friday.

Currently, the majority of outages are in the eastern portion of Entergy's service area, specifically Jefferson, Orange, Hardin and the surrounding counties. Entergy has made significant progress in restoring power to customers in the western portion of its service area specifically in Montgomery, Walker and the surrounding counties.

Entergy Texas is in the process of moving its command center to Conroe due to the water service problems in Beaumont.

Entergy currently has 1,458 personnel working to restore power outages and expects additional workers to arrive shortly. Those in route may have difficulty reaching impacted areas due to extensive flooding.

Texas Electric Transmission & Distribution (TNMP): Has a total of 530 contractors and company personnel committed to the restoration of power.
